

ButterflyMX: Smart package room

A better way to manage package deliveries at your property.

The FLOW

1

Couriers deliver to your building's package room via the panel mounted at the package room door. As the courier enters, our panel takes a time- and date-stamped picture of the delivery person.

2

After the package has been delivered, residents are notified via email, text or an in-app push notification of their delivery.

3

Residents enter their code at the package room and pick up their item. The panel captures a time- and date-stamped picture of the resident and a camera inside the room ensures that they have only taken their package.

ButterflyMX

Stop dealing with this...

Property managers should be focused on resident security and convenience, not managing deliveries.

Delivery

Couriers deliver packages via a secure pin or video call to resident.

Retrieval

Residents can retrieve their packages with a 4-digit pin.

Tracking

Residents receive push notifications when their packages have been delivered.

Integration

Connect with your property management software to ensure all resident names are updated in real-time.

Security

Time- and date-stamped photos are taken of everyone entering the package room. An optional camera tracks the activity in the room.

Increased NOI

Make your property management team more efficient instead of hiring additional staff to help manage deliveries.
